DESCRIPTION OF YOUR OFFERING:

Sandy has a passion for working with congregational leaders to give them the skills and confidence to be effective facilitators, improving their ability to run meetings, engage in meaningful dialogue, manage conflict and create environments that support faith formation throughout the congregation. Being a congregational leader is extremely challenging, constantly balancing the need to build relationships with the need to make collective and inspired decisions that support your ministries.

Let's work together to enhance the impact of your leadership team. Whether at an annual leadership retreat or a special workshop we design together, leadership training is a gift not only to your leaders as individuals, but to your congregation and all whom you serve. I'd be delighted to speak with you to discuss your needs and explore options.

BIO:

Sandy has over 30 years of training and experience in facilitation, process improvement and team coaching, and holds a Master's degree in Human Resource Management with an emphasis in Learning and Development. She has trained leaders in non-profits, healthcare, and government settings and has served as a congregational leader in various communities. She co-facilitates a week-long leadership course called, the Journey of Facilitation and Collaboration, which uses an integral or holistic model. Currently retired from full-time work, Sandy enjoys devoting her time to the things she loves most: Retreat planning, facilitation training, Qigong and meditation instruction, personal contemplative practices, biking and time with her precious grandchildren.
